

Keynote Title: Are You Military-Friendly or Military-Ready?

Keynot Description: Knowing the difference between military-friendly and military-ready matters when serving those who serve. Hear from Brig. Gen. (Ret.) Carol Eggert, SVP of Military and Veterans Affairs at Comcast NBCUniversal, about how her team led their company to become one of America's leading employers and advocate for members of the military community.

Research shows that military service members and veterans exhibit high degrees of self-efficacy, teamwork, resiliency, and the ability to work in dynamic work environments. Simply put, they're great hires. Along with what this talent pool brings to Comcast NBCUniversal, the company values, celebrates and stands with the those who chose to serve our country, welcoming the energy and spirit they bring to its diverse and inclusive environment.

Learn more about the holistic approach Comcast NBCUniversal takes towards recruiting and supporting military community employees – from unique benefits packages to creating a company-wide culture aimed at bridging the civilian-military divide between military community employees and their colleagues.