DIANA DAMRON

Diana Damron has one goal: to Unleash Civility! As a Communication and Civility strategist, Diana partners with organizations to create Cultures of Trust by helping them to value and communicate with civility.

What makes Diana's work unique is that she knows the pain and cost of a workplace built on distrust and incivility. Finding herself a target in a toxic workplace, Diana survived, but certainly did not thrive. Today, she is dedicated to cleaning up and wiping out the pollution of bad behavior and its effects on organizations.

As an author, speaker, and consultant who works with organizations to build the trust and dump the toxic, Diana knows that there are three critical elements any successful enterprise must focus on are: Civility, Communication and Character.
